MGC still deliberating in Encore Boston Harbor decision

Staff Report

The Massachusetts Gaming Commission (MGC) is still deliberating amongst its members more than two weeks after closing hearings into the Wynn Resorts/Encore Boston Harbor suitability determination.

The hearings attracted hundreds of eyes and a great deal of media as well, but since that time, not much has happened outside of closed doors.

A spokesman told the paper that deliberations continue and a very public unveiling of the decision would take place after that.

There is no timeline right now as to when that decision would be made public. That decision includes whether or not Encore keeps its casino license, who in the Wynn organization will remain a qualifier, and what new members will be deemed qualified by the MGC.

Robinson-Griggs builds a legacy as MIT coach

By Cary Shuman

Lucia Robinson-Griggs, who graduated from Pope John XXIII High School as one of its greatest athletes of all time, is enjoying much success in the coaching ranks.

Robinson-Griggs just completed a tremendous season as the associate head coach of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) women's basketball team. The Lady Engineers captured the NEWMAC Conference Championship for the second year in row.

MIT played St. Joseph's of Maine in the first round of the NCAA Division 3 Tournament and lost 68-61.

Lucia's father, Councilor-at-Large Leo Robinson, mother, REACH Executive Director Linda Alioto-Robinson, uncle, Chelsea Clock Company Vice President D. Bruce Mauch, and aunts Gail Mauch and Arlene Robinson traveled to Ithaca College to root on Lucia's MIT contingent in the NCAA first round game.

Robinson-Griggs, who began her basketball career in the Chelsea Youth Basketball League before starring for the Pope John Tigers, was promoted to associate head coach at MIT this season. She recorded her 100th career win at MIT in November.

State Police, Transit Police investigating pedestrian fatality at onramp

By Seth Daniel

An East Boston woman was killed on April 18 at the Everett Avenue onramp when an MBTA bus hit and killed her.

On April 18 at approximately 5:31 a.m., an MBTA bus struck a two pedestrians, causing fatal injuries to one of them, on Everett Avenue in Chelsea just prior to the onramp to Route 1 southbound/Tobin Bridge.

Police said the investigation indicates the deceased pedestrian, Mary Ellen Pettiglio, 60, of East Boston, and a female relative with whom she was walking, where in the crosswalk at the time they were struck. The surviving pedestrian was transported to Boston Medical Center for non-life threatening injuries.

The crash remains under investigation by State Police detectives, Transit Police, and the Suffolk District Attorney's Office. The State Police Collision Analysis and Reconstruction Section and the State Police Crime Services Section are assisting in the investigation.

Alumnus Elliot Katzman moderates Salem State University's Agganis Forum

By Cary Shuman

Former Chelsea High scholar-athlete Elliot Katzman served as moderator for Salem State University's Agganis Forum Monday night at the university's Recital Hall.

Katzman appeared at the forum with entrepreneur and philanthropist Bill Cummings. Katzman interviewed Cummings about his successful career as the founder of Cummings Properties, Inc., that is responsible for buying, building, and managing over 10 million square feet of commercial real estate in eastern Massachusetts.

Cummings and his wife, Joy, are the founders of New Horizons not-for-profit assisted and independent living communities and the Cummings Foundation that has distributed more than $200 million in charities since 1986.

Asked about his splendid performance as moderator that drew applause from the audience, Katzman said humbly, "It was an honor to moderate the discussion with Bill Cummings. He is not only an incredibly successful entrepreneur, but an amazing individual who is making a big impact in the world."

Katzman himself is also an incredible success story. He is a Salem State alumnus, a Salem State trustee, and general partner at Commonwealth Capital Ventures, a private venture capital firm based in Woburn that invests in early and growth stage technology companies. Prior to joining Commonwealth in 2007, Katzman was a general partner at Kodiak Venture Partners from 2002 to 2006.

Elliot and his wife, Donna (Frangiamone) Katzman, were classmates at Chelsea High. They reside in Marblehead.

most prestigious academic institutions in the world?”

“Coaching at MIT is incredibly rewarding and inspiring,” said Robinson-Griggs. “The women on the team are able to balance their heavy course work, research and internships and are still able to be “all in” for basketball. They spend time being dedicated to watching film, working out in the weight room and doing their best on the court.”

Robinson-Griggs said because of the student-athletes’ rigorous academic requirements, the coaching staff has to be well prepared for the daily practices and strategy sessions.

“As a coach, our players’ schedules really force you to be prepared in order to maximize your time with the team,” said Robinson-Griggs. “We only have a two-hour window for practices, so our plans for skill development and planning for opponents needs to be all encompassing and ready to go. Knowing after graduation, the players will go on to have their pick of careers makes you feel a sense of pride and awe that they also chose to play basketball as part of their collegiate experience.”

Robinson-Griggs was previously the head coach of the Lesley University women’s basketball team, leading the Lady Lynx to two conference championships.

From college player to college coach

Robinson-Griggs played college basketball at Bentley University, a perennial Division 2 powerhouse coached by Barbara Stevens. She received her undergraduate degree from Bentley and holds a Master’s degree in Mathematics from Lesley. She is a mathematics teacher at Revere High School where she has also coached in the football program. She is a former women’s professional football player for the Mass Militia.

Robinson-Griggs has worked at several summer basketball camps, including one directed by Brown University head coach Sarah Behn, the former BC and Foxboro High School standout.

Leo Robinson, who played basketball for Chelsea High School and Burdett College, said he was proud of his daughter’s many accomplishments in the sport of basketball. He credits her dedication and mastery of the fundamentals of the game as key factors in her success as a coach.

“Lucia is a sound coach who understands the fundamentals,” said Leo. “She is a good strategist who watches a lot of game film.”

Robinson-Griggs was the keynote speaker at the city’s Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration in January. The 31-year-old scholar-athlete, role model and coach delivered an inspiring address that earned her a standing ovation from the audience.

Lucia and her husband, Michael, live in Chelsea and have two children, Kaia, 4, and Kellan, 2.

BRUINS Beat by Bob Morello

Bruins and Blue Jackets in round two

It was a night to remember for Bruins fans as their team translated the seven-letter word "TORONTO" into another seven-letter word - "VICTORY." Boston's Game Seven, 5-1 win, once again eliminated the Maple Leafs from playoff competition. The sellout TD Garden crowd enjoyed an excellent performance, buoyed by the strong effort from the team's fourth line of Joakim Nordstrom, Sean Kuraly and Noel Acciari. Together the trio put forth a five-point night with goals from Nordstrom and Kuraly and assists issued to Kuraly, Acciari and Nordstrom, on a night in which the Bruins' bottom six forwards, including goals from Charlie Coyle and Marcus Johansson, among those who stepped up and made a difference.

Throughout the season the Bruins have asked for help via secondary scoring... while there has been some help... for Game Seven, the fourth line trio was able to put an exclamation point on - "contributions from the fourth line." For the Leafs it was a tough pill to swallow as they are now without a playoff victory, going back to 2004, and even more painful is the fact that they've been unable to beat the Bruins in a series since 1959, losing six times over that period.

Tuukka Rask in goal for the Bruins earned the "First Star of the Game," but he was so much more than that in Boston's first round playoff win. In seven games he was

4-3, facing a total of 223 Toronto shots, stopping 207 of them. Rask's first round playoff numbers thus far - an impressive .928 save percentage, joined by an equally impressive 2.31 goals-against-average. The Rask-haters will have to wait to try and put Tuukka down again, Rask saved one of his best playoff games in net for Tuesday's Game 7, and it came at a time when it mattered most. Bruins head coach Bruce Cassidy heaped praise on Rask, "We got him a couple of goals in the first, so he could relax a little bit, but he made the stops he needed to and more. I hope fans recognize what he did tonight. I think you have to as a fan acknowledge when a player plays well. I know in this town when you don't you hear about it, and that's fine, too. But tonight he played well and hopefully the people get behind him and acknowledge that."

The stage is now set for the second round of the Stanley Cup Playoffs in which the Bs will face John Tortorella's Columbus Blue Jackets. The Bruins will not take the Blue Jackets lightly as they prepare for Game 1 tonight (Thursday at 7:00pm), this CBJ team made quick work knocking off the number one seeded Tampa Bay Lightning in four games. This is the same team that struggled mightily to make it into the final spot of the playoffs, the team that fared 1-1-1 in the regular season versus Boston. Coach Cassidy when asked about preparing for Columbus was quick to say "We saw them three times late in the year. That will help with our preparation. Should help with the players. We know they were physical against Tampa. They came after them. They got key saves. (Tampa's) powerplay was lights out. So, we've got our hands full. I think it'll be a good match up for us. The teams are similarly built, so it should be a good series." Bottom line, the Blue Jackets will be a "fitting" opponent (pun intended) for the hungry Bruins. Game 2 is scheduled for Saturday, with the start time still to be determined.

Probably the most important of the recent playoff outcomes is that the Bruins now own home ice advantage all the way through their run to the Stanley Cup Finals. The Toronto series once again solidified how "spot on" Bruins General Manager Don Sweeney was with the additions of Marcus Johansson and Charlie Coyle to the lineup. Both players have contributed offensively and defensively, plus Sweeney's ability to bring up players from Providence to provide depth when needed.

SLAPSHOTS: Honorary Banner Captains for Game 7 were Patriots wide receiver Julian Edelman and Special Olympics athlete Meghan Colby. Also in attendance was Toronto (Stratford) native and disappointed Maple Leafs fan, singer/songwriter Justin Bieber and his wife Hailey.

EDITOR IN CHIEF: Cary Shuman

THE CURSE OF SOCIAL MEDIA AND THE INTERNET

In the aftermath of the terrible coordinated attacks by suicide bombers on Easter Sunday in Sri Lanka that killed more than 300 people and wounded about 500 in churches and hotels across the small nation, the Sri Lankan government took the extraordinary step of shutting down social media platforms, including Facebook, YouTube, and Twitter, in order to prevent the dissemination of misinformation that might incite even more bloodshed among its various sectarian groups.

This decade has seen the spread of social media that rightly might be compared to an out-of-control wildfire. What initially was seen as an innocuous manner of sharing information among friend groups -- think of friends sitting around a camp fire telling stories -- has turned into a raging inferno whipped by the winds of greed and hatred that is destroying everything in its path.

Say what you want about the recently released Mueller Report, what is beyond dispute is that it shows that the Russian government used social media through coordinated bot attacks to spread misinformation among large swaths of the American public who utilize these forms of media. In short, the Russians are using social media to undermine our democracy.

The attacker in New Zealand who committed the atrocities in two mosques drew his inspiration from social media postings by right-wing organizations and individuals from around the world and then posted his carnage live online. It was hours before the social media companies were able to take down what he posted, but by then the damage had been done and his carnage had been viewed around the globe.

In some respects, these abuses of online platforms by those who wish to spread fear and disinformation are just the tip of the iceberg of the curse that has become the Internet.

There is no such thing as privacy for anybody, unless you live under the proverbial rock. Everything we do on-line is tracked and establishes a profile that can be used -- and misused -- by those who are keeping track.

The Chinese government is showing firsthand how the Internet can be wielded by a malevolent government (and non-government actors) to control both unfavored opposition groups and individuals.

The Chinese are employing facial recognition software to identify every person in their country -- a monumental task in a nation of a billion or so people -- but it already is being used to keep track of, and suppress, minority religious groups.

The Chinese government also is issuing a "score" for every person in the country -- think of it as a credit score, but taken to the nth degree -- that ultimately will rank every person in the country on a scale of social and economic acceptability, creating a hierarchy that will determine a person's lifelong fate.

It also is clear that the internet has become the new battlefield among nations and others. Who needs nuclear weapons when a hostile government or terrorist organization or criminal enterprise can disable a nation's energy grid or wreak havoc on the financial system or hold individuals and businesses hostage simply by employing malevolent software?

America's military might -- our trillions of dollars worth of aircraft carriers, stealth bombers, and drones -- is no match for a computer virus or worm that attacks our nation's infrastructure.

George Orwell, in his novel "1984," describes a dystopian future in which the government, symbolized by Big Brother, scrutinizes every human action with the aim of creating conformity among its citizens.

Orwell wrote his novel in 1948. It is ironic -- and incredibly prescient of Orwell -- that the internet as we know it today was beginning to take shape in 1984.

It is clear in 2019 that the world Orwell predicted in 1984 has arrived -- and we fear that things are going to get a lot worse before we figure out how to get this Frankenstein monster under control, if we ever do.

NATIONAL ARBOR DAY - APRIL 26TH

Grassley-Klobuchar ushers in dangerous counterfeit drugs

Sally C. Pipes

Congress is poised to consider a bill that would allow Americans to import prescription drugs from Canada. The bill's authors -- Sens. Amy Klobuchar (D-MN) and Chuck Grassley (R-IA) -- label their effort as a bipartisan push to "help Americans who struggle to pay exorbitant prices for medication."

It's noble of lawmakers to tackle prescription drug costs. Eight in ten Americans are concerned about the price of medicines, according to a Kaiser Family Foundation survey.

But the Grassley-Klobuchar bill isn't the right solution. While it might deliver some minor financial relief, it'll jeopardize the health and wellbeing of millions of Americans.

On cost, the Grassley-Klobuchar would yield negligible savings at best. If the entire nation legalized drug importation, number crunchers at the Department of Health and Human Services predict that American drug spending would decrease by less than 1 percent.

On safety, the bill exposes Americans to dangerous counterfeits. It's estimated that 1 million people die at the hand of counterfeit drugs every year, many of which come from Canada.

Last year, U.S. prosecutors fined Canada's largest online pharmacy $34 million for selling counterfeit medications to unsuspecting Americans. The company earned a $78 million profit by deceiving vulnerable cancer patients. Two widely sold oncology drugs -- Avastin and Altuzan -- contained zero active pharmaceutical ingredients.

Exacerbating safety concerns is the fact that a startling number of the "Canadian" drugs purchased by Americans aren't actually from Canada.

An FDA operation conducted at three major U.S. airports examining suspected pharmaceutical shipments from India, Israel, Costa Rica, and Vanuatu revealed that nearly half were ordered from "Canadian" pharmacies -- and of those, just 15 percent actually originated in Canada. The rest came from one of 27 countries across the world, including India, Turkey, and Iran.

The FDA warns Americans that it cannot ensure the safety of medicines "bought over the Internet from foreign sources, from storefront businesses that offer to buy foreign medicine for you, or during trips outside the United States."

Neither, for that matter, can our northern neighbor. Canadian authorities have repeatedly stated that they're not responsible for regulating the safety, quality, or efficacy of medicines sold to U.S. citizens.

Americans should not take the U.S. regulatory system for granted. Before obtaining FDA approval, new drugs must undergo a rigorous testing process. It takes approximately ten years, hundreds of pre-clinical treatments, and multiple clinical trials to bring just one product to the market.

Unfortunately, the same FDA oversight doesn't apply to foreign pharmacies. And the Grassley-Klobuchar bill fails to acknowledge the dangers of importation.

Lawmakers are right to worry about how much patients spend at the pharmacy. But drug importation is not the right way to lower costs. Congress needs to go back to the drawing board.

Marine Mammal Safaris kicks off

With a light sprinkle in the morning and the forecast of afternoon sun, 850 people from across the region joined Save the Harbor/Save the Bay on Saturday's three free Marine Mammal Safaris as a part of the Share the Harbor program. The overwhelming response and turnout topped each of the previous 15 trips, not to mention the abundance of seals and porpoises spotted on each cruise.

"We were blown away by the record breaking numbers," said Save the Harbor/Save the Bay President Tani Marinovich. "Our mission is to connect people to the harbor, so we were delighted to see such a great turnout."

Aboard Massachusetts Bay

Lines' boat Freedom, families, neighborhood groups, and individuals from Boston's communities and beyond were eager to see what the clean water of the Boston Harbor had in store for them. As the rain subsided, the guests of the first and second cruises were able to see three seals out by the Fish Pier, and even caught a glimpse of the fin of a porpoise gliding by the Charlestown Navy Yard.

The last cruise of the day embarked onto the harbor in 75-degree sunny weather -- a great turn-around from the projected overcast skies. Although the charismatic macrofauna were a bit more hesitant to appear for the passengers, as the cruise motored toward East Boston, a plethora of seals and even a few porpoises made an appearance.

In the moments where there were no sightings of aquatic mammals, Save the Harbor staff donned their pirate hats and sang the sea chanty Haul Away Together to remind those around them that if they work together, just as the pirates did as they hoisted the sails, they can accomplish big things.

"In continuing our mission of sharing the harbor for the public to enjoy, Save the Harbor is hosting seven more free cruises to Spectacle Island and Boston Light throughout the summer and fall months," said Marinovich. "Check out the

Save the Harbor/Save the Bay would like to thank Massachusetts Bay Lines for their generosity in hosting us aboard Freedom and making it possible to venture out onto the harbor for each safari, while also giving guests great information about their surroundings through historical narration.

CAUGHT AT THE BAR

On April 8, at 9:10 p.m., Chelsea Officers were flagged down near Bellingham Square by a victim of an unarmed robbery. The victim states he was on his phone when a male came from behind and stole the phone and ran off. One officer reviewed the City video system that captured the incident. From that video, the officer was able to track the suspect entering two local bars. The officer proceeded to the second bar, Los Amigos, and observed the suspect that matched the description; the stolen phone was retrieved from his pocket. He was arrested on the scene.

Oscar Hernandez, 37, of 90 Grove St., was charged with unarmed robbery.

On April 10, at 6:16 p.m., CPD officers responded to the Dollar Tree located at 1090 Revere Beach Parkway on the report of an intoxicated individual located inside the store. The officers had received several complaints from businesses in the area for the same male drinking. The officers observed the male inside the Planet Fitness and placed him under arrest. He had an open bottle of Vodka. During the booking process, the officers found a stolen phone from the CHA in Everett on his person. He was additionally charged with receiving stolen property.

Ramon Pagan, 57, of 126 Maverick St., was charged with receiving stolen property under $1,200 and trespassing.

NO REEFER IN THE HOUSE, PLEASE

On April 11, at 1:44 a.m., officers responded to 95 Orange St. for a report of malicious destruction of property. While en route the officers were advised that the reporting party informed them that a male party broke her screen door and fled the area. The officers spoke to the victim who stated that she knows the suspect and lets him in her home but as a rule will not allow any smoking of marijuana. She says she returned home to the house full of the smell of someone smoking marijuana. She said they argued when she asked him to leave, and he damaged the property. He was located and placed under arrest.

Justin McKelver, 28, of 95 Orange St., was charged with malicious destruction of property under $1,200.

TICKET TANTRUM

On April 13, at 11:16 p.m., officers responded to the area of 474 Broadway to assist an officer. That officer came upon a male who was just issued a parking ticket that became disorderly. The Somerville man was placed under arrest.

Christian Garcia, 26, of Somerville, was charged with disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and common law violation.

Bunker Hill CC changes mascot

After more than a year of research, reflection and evaluation, Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC) has revealed a newly designed bulldog mascot to represent the College's Athletics program. The new BHCC Athletics Bulldog was revealed at the College Faculty/Staff Forum on March 12.

The refreshed mascot design features a running bulldog, energetic and with its eyes focused forward, seeking success in a manner congruent with the program's mission and consistent with the uniqueness of BHCC.

The bulldog has long been the mascot of BHCC Athletics. New Director of Athletics Dr. Loreto Jackson, who joined the College in 2017, felt that the mascot needed a refresh to better align with the College's purpose and values. "The former bulldog had many different renditions," explained Dr. Jackson. "The designs were not unique to BHCC, and, more importantly, did not embody the philosophy of BHCC."

The College enlisted national brand identity firm Phoenix Design Works to assist with the mascot development. After research and discussion with department stakeholders, Jackson wanted to remove the common ideas of bulldogs—that they are mean-spirited, arrogant, combative or lazy. Instead, the BHCC Bulldog should portray respect, tenacity, a competitive spirit and loyalty. Also important was a gender-neutral mascot, unrestrained by the classic bulldog spiked collar.

Bunker Hill Community College is a member of the National Junior Collegiate Athletic Association (NJCAA), Division III. For more information on BHCC Athletics, please visit bhcc.edu/athletics.

NEWS FROM AROUND THE REGION

COUNCIL HEARS ABOUT PROPOSED CHANGES ON ADMINISTRATIVE CODE

EVERETT - On Thursday, April 11, the Council convened for its regular meeting of the Committee of the Whole. On the agenda was a single item, a presentation by the administration to amend the City of Everett Administrative Code.

The Council will be voting on the proposed changes at their next regular meeting on April 22.

All councilors were present save three; Councilors Anthony DiPierro, Wayne Matewsky and Leo McKinnon had prior commitments.

The meeting opened with a slideshow presented by Assistant City Solicitor Matt Lattanzi, which provided an overview of the proposed changes to the code. Councilors received paper copies of the presentation as well as the existing administrative code to compare the changes against.

The Council then analyzed the 60-page administrative code line by line and invited Mayor Carlo DeMaria, Chief of Staff Kevin O'Donnell, and City Solicitor Colleen Mejia to answer the Council's questions about the amended language.

Proposed changes were divided into three groups and included the following:

•General Provisions

Those eligible to serve on a board or commission would expand to include those who own property in Everett (previously residents only). Board or commission members can be removed after missing two meetings (previously three) with permission from chairperson, or four total meetings (previously six). The Mayor would be able request the resignation of anyone serving on a board. All boards and commissions would be required to submit recordings and minutes within seven days. The Assistant City Clerk would be able to administer oaths of office to appointees (previously only City Clerk.)

•Multi-member Bodies

Changes to the Everett Public Libraries Board of Trustees (LBoT) would include the following: the City would take over the human resources duties of the LBoT; the City Treasurer would become the default treasurer of the LBoT; and the LBoT would go from overseeing the whole library system to overseeing the management of the trust left by founder Frederick E. Parlin.

Amendments in this section also reflect changes to multi-member bodies including commission names, alternate members, numbers of required members, term lengths, job duties, and language that could be interpreted as ambiguous.

•Executive Administration

The Department of Public Works (DPW) would rename a number of its departments as well as modify the duties and responsibilities associated with various departments and job titles. The Code Enforcement Task Force would add the Superintendent of Schools or his designee as a 10th required member. The City's new Department of Organizational Assessment would provide workplace consulting to and oversight of other City departments. Lastly, the title of Risk Manager and associated duties would be added to the title of City Solicitor.

The Council will be required to vote on these changes as a whole rather than on individual changes. For this reason, the Council requested a clarification in the language regarding associate/alternate members, which the Mayor agreed to. The City Solicitor will present the final document with the incorporated changes to the Council on April 22 where the Council will accept or reject it.

MAYOR CANCELS SPEECH, WILL DELIVER 'VIRTUAL' STATE OF THE CITY

EVERETT - Mayor Carlo DeMaria announced last week that he planned to forego his State of the City Address on April 25 and will instead give a virtual speech at some time in the future.

The confusing news came suddenly late on Tuesday and was confirmed by Council President Rich Dell Isola.

In an invitation prepared by the Mayor's Office later on Tuesday, it was stated that the mayor had chosen to do a virtual broadcast instead of a live speech before the City Council.

"In order to reach the maximum amount of resident, we have changed the State of the City Address to a virtual broadcast to be viewed on ECTV On Demand, Youtube.com and via Facebook," the invitation read. "This will allow all residents to watch and listen at their convenience, anytime, day or night."

The date is to be announced soon but was not given in the invitation.

ORIENT HEIGHTS COUNCIL VOTES DOWN PROJECT

EAST BOSTON - Members of the Orient Heights Neighborhood Council (OHNC) voted 25 to 13 against a project to turn a one family home on Barnes Avenue into five units of housing.

Attorney for the project at 119 Barnes Ave., Matt Eckel, announced at Monday night's meeting that his client had made some changes to the project after hearing from the community during the March OHNC meeting.

The annual Easter tradition continued on Sweeney Ave. last Friday in memory of the late Rita Ciulla who enjoyed making them for many years. Family and friends gathered to make over 20 pizza ghienas at the Chiesa Home. Shown is Sandy and Mike Chiesa along with Carol Catinazzo, April LeClair and Andrea Obrien.

Eckel said his client reduced the number of units from six to five, reduced the number of bedrooms from 10 to eight, increased the number of parking spaces from six to eight, and reduced the height of the building as well as the floor area ratio.

After making all these concessions, a majority of OHNC members still felt the project was too large despite a number of multifamily homes on the block.

OHNC members like Mary Berninger felt some compromise with developers needs to be made especially when the proposal is not a huge development project like some of the others being proposed around Eastie.

"I can never understand that kind of a vote when a developer makes many concessions," said Berninger after the meeting. "The final iteration showed something that was very much in keeping with surrounding structures. Combine that with the decrease in scope and more parking spaces than originally offered. Trying to find compromise and middle ground is exhausting."

Others like John Casamassa were shocked at the outcome.

"I'm surprised (by the vote) since nobody really spoke out against it or even made the case as to why it shouldn't be approved," he said. "From the outside it at least looked fitting with the neighborhood, unlike so many of these huge boxes that are being proposed."

In the past OHNC President Joseph Ruggiero III has expressed his fear that the group has gained the reputation among the Boston Zoning Board of Appeals as a body that rejects everything. Ruggiero feels by rejecting everything the group loses credibility with the ZBA whereas if the group was more balanced in its voting—the 'no' votes on particular projects would send a signal to the ZBA that there is clear community opposition or that the developer hasn't addressed the community's concerns.

"Based on previous zoning and what I can only imagine the future zoning will be, someone could build essentially the exact same structure proposed for 119 Barnes Ave. as a two-family, decrease the amount of parking spots and the new two-family could have two, four to five bedroom units at 2000 sq. ft.," he said. "There's no way a building like that would be better to live next to than what was proposed. This is why I suggested before that the OHNC goes to a 2/3 or 3/4 majority vote on projects. If the threshold is met OHNC send a letter of support or opposition for a project. If the threshold is not met in support or opposition the OHNC takes no action."

TWO LOCAL TEACHERS HONORED

EAST BOSTON - Two East Boston teachers were honored by Boston Public Schools and the Boston Teachers Union

(BTU) as an Educator of the Year. The two local teachers and nine teachers from other BPS schools in the city were invited to watch players warm up before the final home game of the Boston Celtics' regular season on Sunday, April 7. The 2019 winners were also honored at center court during halftime of the game.

In Eastie both Jillian Archer and Tanya Boone received this year's honors.

During the nomination period, BTU, BPS, and the City of Boston invited school faculty and staff, students, families, and community members, to nominate exemplary educators to honor their work and dedication to their profession.

Archer is a school psychologist at the Curtis Guild Elementary School. During the nomination phase the entire Curtis Guild school community compiled an entire packet of heartfelt nominations.

"Today, we celebrate our incredible school psychologist, Jillian Archer, one of the 11 outstanding educators chosen to be Educator of the Year out of almost 400 nominees this year," said Curtis Guild Principal Karen McCarthy. "I quote from a letter submitted about Jillian (Archer), 'Schools do not become great due to one educator. The strongest schools work with intentional systems and a network of strong staff who collaborate and support each other's work—making us all better than we would be in isolation and creating a school that ensures that children's needs are met. Ms. Archer exemplifies such an educator.'"

Boone is a veteran BPS educator from Mattapan who teachers kindergarten at the Samuel Adams Elementary School. Boone has been an integral part of the Eastie community throughout her 31-year teaching career. In fact, Boone has been teaching so long in Eastie that some of her current students are children of her former students.

The Educator of the Year Awards recognize the exceptional educators who go above and beyond to impact the lives of BPS students and community members. The program celebrates educators who exemplify a commitment to the profession by selecting educators who are worthy of representing the positive contributions of teaching staff districtwide.

The awards honor teachers, paraprofessionals, librarians, and other support staff. Fellow teachers, families, students, community members, and others were invited to nominate educators who they believed to be deserving of recognition for their contributions to the school community.

“I am grateful that we have so many dedicated teachers, support staff, and administrators in the Boston Public Schools who make our students’ futures brighter each and every day, and change our students’ lives for the better,” said Mayor Martin J. Walsh. “These educators show unwavering commitment to their school communities and go above and beyond to prepare our students for future success. I am proud to highlight their success as winners of the 2019 Educator of the Year Awards.”

Educator of the Year award winners, their families and colleagues will be invited to attend a reception in May to honor their exemplary work and profound commitment to their school communities.

“The Educator of the Year Awards are a great way to honor the deep commitment of our BPS staff,” said Boston School Committee Chairperson Michael Loconto. “These educators are serving some of our highest needs students, and are a great representation of the talent and steadfast commitment to learning of this district. For every winner we’re proud to announce today, we know there are hundreds of other teachers pouring their heart, soul and knowledge into supporting our kids every day. I’m proud of the Educator of the Year award winners for being consummate professionals and unequivocal role models for their school communities.”

BPS Interim Superintendent Laura Perille said the two educators in Eastie and the other educators in Boston are pillars of their school communities and instrumental in the personal and educational development of their students.

“I was honored to personally notify the award winners of this distinction, learning more about the important work they do every day inside our schools,” she said. “I look forward to further celebrating their profound contributions to BPS in the coming weeks.”

This year, the district received close to 400 nominations, the highest number ever received. Submissions included letters of support, samples of student work, photographs, videos, and other testimonials. In addition to the nine teachers honored, this year’s winners also include a school psychologist and clinical coordinator. Two of the nine teachers are special education teachers. This year’s winners also include a teaching pair. In addition, four of 11 winners have been teaching in BPS for at least 20 years, with two finalists retiring at the end of this school year.

“The Educator of the Year Awards are a wonderful way to highlight the hard work and exceptional talent in this district’s teaching force,” said BTU President Jessica Tang. “These educators go the extra mile to ensure our students reach their full potential. Congratulations to the winners, and all of our teachers and staff who work every day to ensure a quality educational experience for Boston students.”

DEMONSTRATION HELD OVER TAX FRAUD

LYNN - The New England Regional Council of Carpenters and Local 339 hosted a demonstration at Lynn City Hall on Thursday April 11. Their event illuminated the rampant tax fraud tainting the construction industry.

“Construction industry tax fraud is an issue that robs taxpayers of critical funding for things like firefighters and local schools here in Lynn, and it gets worse when you note that a lot of it happens through the mistreatment of workers and the unethical ways that they are hired,” said NERCC Local 339 member Adam DiGiovanni. He informed attendees on the magnitude of illegal construction employment practices and their impact on Lynn and Massachusetts.

Each year labor brokers and contractors cheat their tax obligations by misclassifying their hires and paying an estimated 1.2 million workers ‘off the books,’ robbing taxpayers of up to $2.6 billion through lost federal income, employment taxes, and state income taxes. These dishonest tactics deprive city, state, and federal budgets of tax dollars and ethical businesses the chance to fairly compete for work. Local neighborhoods lose funds necessary for school improvements, infrastructure maintenance, veteran assistance, and capacity for first responders.

When employers engage in tax fraud, workers can’t collect unemployment when a job finishes and they get laid off. When they get hurt, all of the medical costs get paid by the worker and/or the taxpayers, instead of workers comp insurance. They miss out on years of Social Security contributions. Sometimes, employers commit wage theft and refuse to pay or fully pay workers for their work. This not only impacts workers directly, but also indirectly impacts every other taxpayer, since it puts a greater burden on public services.

“When I got hired for my old job I didn’t realize that I had an option to not be treated this way,” said Manny Domingues, an NERCC member. Prior to joining the union, Manny experienced worker exploitation and tax fraud methods though employee misclassification. He noted, that “Standing up in union against this behavior means it will stop. The public is being robbed of tax money. If they put pressure on local representatives and developers, we have a real chance to make this right for workers, for locals, and for funding public services in Lynn.”

Together, nearly 100 attending NERCC members and locals called for a unified front against this insidious activity by demonstrating with picket signs and banners.

Representatives also spoke about next steps for protecting taxpayers and workers in Lynn. The Lynn City Council signed an ordinance to protect against wage fraud in March of 2018.

“As a union organizer, I’ve seen tax fraud up close when talking to workers. Now I get to help the people of Lynn see just how pervasive this issue is and make sure they know they have rights. I’m so proud that our leaders here have spoken out against this. Now the hope is that other cities and towns in the North Shore will step up and do the same,” said Justin Anshewitz, an NERCC Organizer and a member of the City of Lynn Wage Theft Committee.

During the week of the April 15, national tax deadline, additional events will be held by other regional councils of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. Together these groups are working to elevate the conversation around construction industry tax fraud and the associated costs to American taxpayers and their communities.

NEXT STOP REVERE MASTER PLANNING FORUM DRAWS LARGE CROWD

REVERE - Mayor Brian Arrigo said he wanted the community’s input on the future of Revere throughout the Next Stop Revere master planning process.

In their first public opportunity to weigh in on the plan, many residents accepted the mayor’s invitation and attended the first of two community forums April 10 inside the Revere High School cafeteria.

Arrigo delivered the opening remarks at the forum before turning the podium over to Metropolitan Area Planning Council (MAPC) officials who are guiding the master planning process.

“After the turnout that we had in January [for the kickoff], which was amazing and truly showed how invested folks are in making sure the City of Revere realizes its full potential – I’m looking forward to hearing from all of you about your vision,” said Arrigo.

The forum’s focus was on housing, economic development, and the city’s historic and cultural resources.

“I truly believe that now is the time for Revere,” said Arrigo. “We are uniquely positioned with all the right ingredients to unlock the incredible opportunities for our city and for the people of our city,” said Arrigo.

The mayor specifically noted the development potential for the former NECCO and Wonderland Greyhound Park sites.

Betsy Cowan, chief of economic development of the MAPC and one of the project managers, enlightened the audience with a number of interesting statistics about Revere and feedback from the kickoff event that was held on Jan. 15. “First of all, the population is growing, you all know that, you feel that,” said Cowan, revealing that there are more than 53,000 residents living in the city. “It’s also a very diverse population in terms of the different age groups that represented. Certainly this is a diverse community in terms of racial and ethnic background.”

She said her group is looking at the use of land in Revere in terms of future development.

“Is it used for residential purposes? Is it used for commercial purposes? Combined with zoning and what is allowed in these difference spaces, that will help us analyze what should be built in the city,” said Cowan.

Reflecting on the kickoff event that focused on a number of topics such as affordable housing green space, and safety, Cowan said her team analyzed the feedback from residents and determined that the “key concerns” were (in order of mentions by attendees) traffic, affordable housing, drugs, racism, education/schools, taxes, cleanliness, and lighting.

Alex Koppelman, regional housing and land use planner at the MAPC spoke about the housing elements of the master plan.

“Affordable housing was the No. 1 topic mentioned at the [Jan. 15] meeting,” said Koppelman. “We heard a lot about why people like living in Revere. We heard that it’s an affordable place that’s close to Boston, close to transportation, and amenities like the beach. We also heard that’s it a very diverse city.

“We also heard some concerns about the affordability of housing, particularly for families and whether the new apartments at the beach are meeting the needs of the community,” said Koppelman.

He said housing is considered “affordable” if it costs no more than 30 percent of the household’s income.

“This allows that household to pay for other necessities such as food, transportation, and healthcare,” said Koppelman.

He said the City of Revere has “a diverse range of housing types and that’s good, and the City does expect a lot of new market-rate housing units in the next few years, and that’s exciting for a lot of reasons.”

Josh Eichen, regional planner at the MAPC, talked about economic development, saying the term could mean, “more development in the city, access to better jobs, activating vacant spaces (such as the NECCO factory), hosting community events such as the Sandcastle competition at the beach.”

He said based on community feedback, there were three categories that residents wanted to talk about: employment opportunities at the new hotels being built in Revere; whether competitive wages are being offered by the larger businesses in Revere; and traffic.

“Traffic came up a whole bunch, Revere is a commuting city,” said Eichen. “Twenty-one thousand workers commute outside the city for their employment. About 1,600 work and live in Revere. And Revere is bringing in about 7,000 people to work within the city limits.”

Annis Sengupta, senior arts and cultural planner at the MAPC, spoke about the historic and cultural components of the master plan.

“What we look at are the historic development patterns of the community, the historic preservation activities as priorities, and also the wider spectrum of arts and cultural activities and try to understand the identity of the place and the rich activity that is going,” said Sengupta.

She said some of the feedback that she received from residents were “how much Revere loves its diverse communities and cultures, concerns about racism, and the lack of cultural and recreational opportunities, especially for youth and seniors – and the need for more community gathering space.”

“And we heard about a love for Revere Beach as an historic asset, a regional destination, and as a unique open space,” said Sengupta. “And we also heard about a desire to strengthen its connection to environmental justice and promote is preservation in the face of climate change.”

Cowan said the goal is to present the final master plan to the Planning Board in the early winter of 2020. The next community forum is scheduled for May 8.

Tips on preventing falls in the house for seniors

One in four Americans aged 65 or older falls each year, according to the National Council on Aging. Every 11 seconds, an older adult is treated in the emergency room for a fall; every 19 minutes, an older adult dies from a fall. Falls are the leading cause of fatal injury and the most common cause of non-fatal trauma-related hospital and nursing home admissions among older adults.

Although falls are prevalent in older adults, there could be many ways to help your loved one continue to live safely in their own home.

Falls and accidents seldom “just happen.” Usually there are at least several contributing factors that lead to a fall. The danger in some of these factors can be eliminated or reduced by taking simple steps recommended by Mystic Valley Elder Services to make an elder's home safer. Here is a room-by-room breakdown of some of these steps.

Bathrooms: Place a rubber mat or rubber safety strips in the tub or shower. Install sturdy grab bars in the tub/shower area to provide support. Have a night light available to use after dark and in the middle of the night.

Bedrooms: Use night lights or bedside, remote-controlled light switches. Place the telephone in an area easy to get to and keep the cord out of walking pathways. Consider a cordless telephone.

Stairs and hallways: Put light switches conveniently at both the top and bottom of stairs. Make sure carpeting is not loose or buckling and use non-skid treads on stairs. Both sides of each stairway should have sturdy handrails running their entire lengths. Avoid waxing hardwood floors that could create a slippery surface.

Living areas: Secure and place electrical/telephone cords out of walking pathways. Remove throw rugs that might slide or attach non-skid strips to rug backings. Furniture should be arranged to allow for unobstructed walkways. It is important to keep floors clear of clutter.

- Other tips to prevent falls:
- You should also be aware of clothing and behavior that can help create a safer environment. You should wear well-fitted, flat, rubber-soled shoes to prevent slipping.
 - Do not walk or climb stairs with arms loaded—always leave a hand free for balance.
 - Slowly get out of bed and slowly rise from sitting to avoid dizziness.
 - Make sure to have your vision tested regularly and keeps her glasses clean.

• Be aware of any medications you are taking that could cause difficulty with balance.

• You should be discussing the falls with your primary care physician to see if there is a medical condition that needs attention.

The dangerous situation created by a fall is frequently compounded by the inability to call for help. Personal emergency response systems should be installed whenever someone appears to be at risk of falling. The systems provide 24-hour access to emergency help, giving both the elder and family members some sense of security

8TH ANNUAL EMPTY BOWLS FUNDRAISER

Photos by Derek Kouyoumjian

The 8th Annual Empty Bowls was held at the Williams School in Chelsea. More than 350 artists decorated 365 bowls and mugs that were fired and finished at Salem State University's kilns. The bowls are then sold to raise money to benefit area food pantries and soup kitchens, such as St Luke's, Salvation Army, and MGH Chelsea, as well as raise awareness to food insecurity. To celebrate the outpouring of generosity, food typically found in bowls, donated by Chef Keith Jones of BB&N Cambridge, Bertucci's, and Toscanini's, was served including chili, clam chowder, and ice cream.

In her return to Chelsea, Margaret Carsley used her experience in selling raffle tickets in years past to help her friend Lisa Santagate take on the responsibility.

Councillor Roy Avellaneda and his mother Isabelle, who decorated some of the bowls, including one for revolutionary Cuban Che Guevara.

Event coordinator Ron Fishman of the Chelsea Hunger Network, and Chelsea City Manager Tom Ambrosino.

Salem State University Professor John Volpacchio, who fired the painted bowls in Salem State's kilns, holds a bowl decorated by Denise Iraheta.

Mike Giazarzio, a Salvation Army volunteer, holds his recently acquired mug.

A table of veterans representing the Soldiers Home hold mugs and bowls that they helped decorate.

Carlissa Figueroa, Nancy Ventura, and Gisabel Horta from United Health Care were on hand to offer their support and to provide information on their company's Senior Care Options.

Scouts Sophia Lopez with Aviell and Alina Lanzo of Troop 109 Chelsea/Everett donate their time to serve up some food to go in those bowls purchased.

Chef Keith Jones made his fantastic clam chowder from scratch using his unique recipe.

Yesenia Perez sells Mimi Graney raffle tickets to win wooden bowls made and donated by the Association of Revolutionary Turners.

Manuela Anorga and her son, Italo, enjoy the arts and crafts table.

Denise Ortega, Monica Elias, Mui Chhua, Bonnie Fischman, and Henry Wilson hold some bowls that were available for sale.
