TUMBLING TOWER

The Chelsea Soldiers Home water tower was blocked off and surrounded by heavy machinery for its removal. It was pulled down by heavy machinery, and it made an impact as it hit the ground, stirring up dust and dirt.

Iconic Chelsea Soldiers' Home water tower comes down

By Seth Daniel and Katy Rogers

For more than a few Chelsea residents, the Soldiers' Home red and white checkers water tower defined home.

It was something they saw from planes, looked at in the rearview mirror when headed over the Mystic/Tobin Bridge, and could see from nearly every corner of the city.

Now, it's only a memory. The Chelsea Soldiers' Home water tower came down on Wednesday afternoon, May 29, about 1 p.m. after many months of waiting for the right conditions to knock down the tower so as to make way for the $199 million state-of-the-art veterans hospital and living center.

Both could not exist in tandem, and after a long and passionate discussion last year about the tower, the community conceded to let the tower go.

About 9 a.m. on Wednesday, the demolition crew moved in to prepare a 200 foot perimeter at Malone Park for the tower to fall onto. That took several hours, but then about 12:30, work began on the legs. One leg on the north side was sawn off, and then the tower was simply pushed over.

It came down with a huge thud, but remained mostly intact.

The company that took it down also had most recently taken down the water tower at the Weymouth Air Station on the South Shore.

Many people from the community gathered to watch the tower come down, and television crews from the Boston media were out in force with cameras and helicopters.

Afterward, Superintendent of the Chelsea Soldiers Home Cheryl Lussier Poppe addressed the media, explaining that the tower removal will allow for improvements and construction to the new veterans home that will replace the aging Quigley Hospital.

City Council approves $18 million CIP plan with some reservations

By Adam Swift

With a few adjustments, the City Council approved City Manager's proposed $18 million Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) budget for Fiscal Year 2020. About $4.7 million of that proposal comes from the City's free cash reserves.

The Council held a special meeting Tuesday night, May 28, to pass the CIP before the June 1 deadline.

The major changes to Ambrosino's requests included paying for the second phase of the Mary C. Burke School roof project through $825,000 in free cash rather than the school stabilization fund, and doing away with $450,000 in the FY20 CIP for an updated Master Plan.

"Even though I am a huge proponent of the Master Plan, I think we should take a step back," said Councilor-At-Large Leo Robinson.

He said the City will be looking at some zoning issues in the near future, and should focus on that before it moves forward with a Master Plan update.

Earlier this year, City Manager Thomas Ambrosino presented the proposed 2020-2024 Capital Improvement Plan to the City Council. That document included 45 projects totaling $18 million for FY20.

"It is my strong belief that this comprehensive Capital Improvement Plan fully meets our promise to invest the City's strong reserves in projects that enhance the quality of life in our City," Ambrosi-

The Jewish Journal newspaper honors Lubarsky, Medros at awards breakfast

By Cary Shuman

The Jewish Journal newspaper honored members of its community who have made special contributions through their volunteer efforts and philanthropy.

Adele Lubarsky, principal of the Hooks Elementary School, and Ed Medros, president of the Walnut Street Synagogue, were honored as Mensches at the breakfast held May 19 at Temple Ner Tamid, Peabody.

Lubarsky, a Chelsea High

School graduate, thanked the Journal for the honor in her acceptance speech.

"And it is an honor as president of Temple Ner Tamid to host this event," said Lubarsky. "In my mind there are few higher Jewish compliments to pay someone than to call them a mensch.

"A mensch is a person who can be relied on to act with honor and integrity. The Yiddish term means more than that: it also suggests someone Councillor Giovanni Recupero stands in front of the new pedestrian crossing traffic light on Marginal Street this week. The light will help ensure the safe crossing of residents to the PORT Park on what is a very busy truck route.

District councillor celebrates installation of crossing light

By Seth Daniel

It was a request that didn't appear as if it would never see the light of day, but for Councillor Giovanni Recupero, there is now a light at the end of the tunnel – or rather – on the curves of Marginal Street.

This week, Recupero said he was glad to finally see the substantial crossing light installed at the PORT Park so residents of his district – including children – can safely cross a dangerous road to get to the new park.

"They said I couldn't do it; no one said this could be done, but here it is," he said on Monday. "I found money in an account from Eastern Minerals. I called for that money to be used for this light, and convinced my fellow councillors to vote for it. Everyone told me not to

MEMORIAL DAY IN CHELSEA

Well-known veterans advocate Paul Monti spoke at length about being a Gold Star Father – having lost his son Jared Monti in 2006. Monti has been active in relaying the stories of his son, and others, who were lost in war. He said Memorial Day is not an easy day for those who have lost children in the throes of war. See Page 6 for more photos.

Grand Marshal Tim Leazott, a veteran who works at the Soldiers' Home, led the 8th annual Girl Scout Memorial Day Parade up Broadway on Monday, May 27. The Parade featured Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, elected officials and Explorer Post 109 – among many others. See Page 5 for more photos.

Charlie Lanzillo may be 99, but he wasn't about to miss the Memorial Day Exercises on Monday, May 27, where in an emotional moment, he stood as the Chelsea High School band played the Navy anthem. Lanzillo is a life-long resident of Chelsea, and fought in the Pacific Theatre on Tinian Island, which was the take-off point for the bomber planes that dropped the Atomic Bomb on Japan. Supt. Bourque honored by Salem State in Boston

Staff Report

Chelsea outgoing Supt. Mary Bourque was honored as one of six 2019 Educator Award recipients in the State House – an award bestowed upon her from Salem State University.

The annual award from the Massachusetts State Universities Council of Presidents is intended to recognize and celebrate outstanding state university educator alumni who work or have worked in a Massachusetts public Pre-K or K-12 school or higher education institutions. One individual is selected each year by each of the nine state universities to highlight the historically strong connection between the teacher preparation programs and Massachusetts public schools. The state university system educates more than 52,000 students each year and has more than 225,000 alumni.

“I was honored to stand with six other 2019 Educator Award recipients Tuesday at the State House,” said Bourque. “Of course it was Salem State College when I attended. I even brought my freshman ID to the event. I was 17 years old. I loved my years at Salem State. I was a commuter, living in Chelsea and working in downtown Boston. My Salem State education opened so many doors for me. I found my passion for teaching and learning at Salem State. I will be forever grateful for the education and the opportunities.”

Bourque has been the superintendent of Chelsea Schools for several years, and has spent decades in the Chelsea Public Schools. She will retire this year, and is expected to remain very active in education issue in Chelsea and statewide.

no stated in a letter to the City Council.

The program areas addressed in the CIP for FY20 include equipment purchases including furniture, desktop replacements, and vehicles for the library; roadway and sidewalk improvements; improvement and expansion of open spaces, including the Mary C. Burke playground; replacement of police cruisers, radio communication equipment, and a new engine pumper; and nearly $7 million for infrastructure improvements including utility replacement on Upper Broadway, mitigation of localized flooding and expansion of the City’s lead service replacement program.

“This gives our City Manager the leverage to go out and continue to fix our sidewalks and roads and also help with school projects and water projects,” said District 8 Councillor Calvin T. Brown. “It’s a lot of money, but it needs to be done to improve the quality of life in Chelsea.”

District 6 Councillor Giovanni Recupero voted in favor of the CIP, but questioned why the Council vote is necessary, since the City Charter already requires the annual adoption of the CIP.

“The charter is telling you it has to be approved,” he said.

Williams School playground to get revamp next year; Open House tonight, May 30

By Seth Daniel

The Williams School playground is one of the most heavily used spaces in the city, but the asphalt patch lacks innovation, and school leaders are preparing to make it more inviting to everyone – students and community.

That will kick off tonight, May 30, with an Open House at the Williams School. The Open House is designed to get feedback from the community and the students – though students have already been surveyed in classes, coming up with designs and ideas for the space.

“It is school property, but we recognize it has such an important role in the neighborhood and we want to make sure we get everyone’s ideas and thoughts on the re-design,” said Monica Lamboy of the Chelsea Public Schools.

Lamboy said they are in the early design stages right now, but have been working with students on their ideas for the space since February.

A private firm has taken some of that preliminary information and come up with four designs. The community at-large will see those designs unveiled on May 30, and the schools will look for input on them.

“Our goal is to get feedback now and sometime in the late summer and early fall have a final design picked and move into final design,” she said.

Student feedback, she said, has been interesting.

Universally, students said the space was “really hot” in the warmer months and was very hard and easy to get hurt on.

While the critical basketball courts will stay in the design, the schoolyard will likely come out with a much softer and greener design. Though sports and activity will be a part of the new schoolyard, there will be places to draw, read, socialize and escape the heat.

“The kids said the space is very hot and it is also used for a lot of things, such as basketball, soccer, roller skating and even yoga,” said Lamboy. “We want to design it so it’s welcoming to an array of activities and has a much greener feel to it.”

The meeting is from 6-7 p.m. at the Williams School, and construction is expected to begin next March.

try to do this because it was too expensive. But we did our research and we did it. It’s a great achievement for all of the children of this district. This is a dangerous spot. The park is great, but you couldn’t safely get to the other side of the street.”

Marginal Street is a truck route flanked by some industry and a dense residential neighborhood.

The PORT Park came on the scene about five years ago, and is a beloved asset for the community in the summer months. However, for those in the neighborhood adjacent to it, dodging fast-moving tractor trailers was daunting.

Now, Recupero said thanks to the rest of the Council, and the unbelievable investment in his district by City Manager Tom Ambrosino, the situation is much safer.

The light cost just under $1 million in total, and is a full traffic light that can be activated at the push of a button and completely stops vehicles for pedestrians.

The idea was rejected several years ago when first proposed by Recupero because of the price tag. However, he said he investigated some forgotten accounts and found a mitigation account from Eastern Minerals that was to be used for infrastructure in his district.

And bingo – the light shone.

“The City spends money on everything and it should spend money on the safety of the children,” he said. “Now the children and their parents don’t have to worry anymore because the light will always be here.”

who is kind and considerate. For me, the term mensch does not come easy.

“When I thought about my definition of mensch, I went to my favorite source: Google. Brigitte Nicole in “Lessons Learned in Life” provided me with the framework of what I consider I needed to do to be considered a mensch.

“Surround yourself with people who are kind, caring, who are growing and want to learn. People who don’t mind saying sorry or thank you and will ask you if you need anything. These people will keep you positive. To find these people is to be one,” said Lubarsky.

The popular school administrator added, “For me, this honor belongs to everyone in my family and Temple life who have supported me in the past and helped me become a mensch.”

Medros, who has done an outstanding job maintaining the history of the Walnut Street shul, also humbly accepted the prestigious award. “I am truly honored to be recognized as a mensch by the Jewish Journal and to walk in the same steps as all the other mensches here and everyone in attendance. I thank you very much. It is a labor of love for me to be president of the Walnut Street synagogue.”

Medros concluded his remarks by inviting guests to take a tour of the landmark Jewish house of worship.

Also honored was Todd Levine, whose family formerly owned Levine’s Meat Market on Central Avenue. Todd is now the proprietor of Levine’s Kosher Meat Market in Peabody.

The publisher of the Jewish Journal is Steve Rosenberg, whose family owned and operated Murray and Eddy’s Delicatessen on Broadway, Chelsea, for many years.

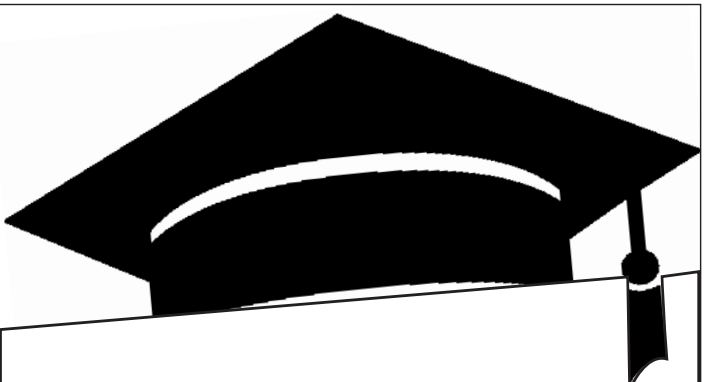

A former reporter for The Boston Globe, Rosenberg congratulated the honorees in an inspiring speech to begin the program. Rosenberg and a special committee of the Journal’s Board of Overseers, including Chairman Matthew Schwartz, Neil Donnefeld, Donna Lozow Pierce, and Susan Garnick, planned and organized the annual breakfast.

BHCC Honors Class of 2019 at 45th Commencement Ceremony

On Thursday, May 23, Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC) awarded 1,754 degrees and certificates to the Class of 2019 at the 45th Commencement Exercises.

BHCC President Pam Eddinger opened the ceremony with the annual “ritual of gratitude,” where graduates thank family and friends in attendance for their support throughout their educational journey. Eddinger also reflected on the cultural wealth of the graduates and how it left a positive impact on her as College President.

“I am braver today because I have learned from your struggles and have seen your courage,” said Eddinger. “I am more hopeful, because you have shown me, in your multiple languages, your ancestral songs, and your lived experiences that while life can be harsh, it is also limitless and ever-renewing.”

Massachusetts Commissioner of Higher Education Carlos E. Santiago delivered the keynote address. In his remarks to the graduates, he encouraged the graduates to use their education to give back to their communities. “Your communities benefit from your time and talents,” he said. “As students at our community colleges, you are uniquely connected to your cities and towns. I urge you to stay connected – to hold tight to your civic compass. Let it point you to where you can make a difference.”

Santiago also received the President’s Distinguished Services Award in recognition of his extraordinary service to the community and BHCC. Santiago has served as Commissioner of Higher Education since July of 2015. Santiago has made a great impact on important issues affecting the BHCC’s students; in particular his commitment to equity in higher education is something that resonates with us at the College.

The BHCC Nurse Education Department was awarded with the Trustees Distinguished Service Award, presented by William J. Walczak, Chair of the BHCC Board of Trustees. The department was recognized for the success of its collaborative leadership, steadfast resolve and decisive actions toward a secure and thriving program, and in recognition of the increased success of their graduates on the NCLEX Examination.

For the past two years, new leadership and the full and ongoing engagement of the Nursing Education program’s faculty and staff were all critical during an intensive reaccreditation process. The program’s faculty and staff have implemented high impact student success, pedagogical and post-graduate student interventions that have achieved immediate results: most notably an NCLEX Examination pass rate of 94% for its fall 2018 graduating class. Dean of Health Sciences Maryanne Atkinson, Assistant Dean Donna Savino, Director Elizabeth Tobin and Associate Professor and Chairperson Kristen Wenger accepted the award.

Also honored at Thursday’s ceremony were faculty speaker Bryan D. Craven, Student Government Association President Joan Acosta Garcia, and President’s Leadership Award recipients Cam Do and Eva Montrond.

PRESIDENT: Stephen Quigley

EDITOR IN CHIEF: Cary Shuman

FINALLY, SOME GOOD NEWS ON THE ENVIRONMENTAL FRONT

Every few weeks -- or even more often, it seems -- we learn of some new, looming catastrophe for our planet because of the combined effects of climate change and the degradation of our environment by human activity.

Everyone agrees that the climate is changing, and that it will have far-reaching consequences that we only can imagine. So too, the activity by the seven billion persons with whom we share the earth is destroying the natural world at an unprecedented and ever-accelerating pace.

So it was with some degree of relief that we read the annual report by the organization Save the Harbor/Save the Bay, which informed us that our major metropolitan beaches never have been cleaner (in terms of water pollution) and safer for recreational swimming and other activity.

As lifelong residents of this area, we always are amazed that the beaches with the cleanest water every year are the M Street Beach and the City Point Beach in South Boston -- go figure -- but we're sure there is a logical and scientific-based reason for why these two beaches have achieved ratings of 100-percent for the past six years.

However, almost all of our metropolitan beaches, from Nantasket Beach on the South Shore to Revere and Winthrop beaches on the north, improved their ratings in 2018 compared to their six-year running-average. Winthrop Beach, for example, attained a 100-percent rating in 2018 compared to a 97-percent rate for the previous five years.

There are many factors that contribute to a beach's water quality. There are natural effects, most notably the amount of rainfall over the course of a season or over a short time period. The diligence of government agencies at the state and local levels in assuring that sewer connections are working as intended are a vital part of the equation.

We as individuals also play a key role in assuring that our water stays clean by making sure we don't dispose of our trash and hazardous waste into our waterways, by using the pump-out services for our boats, and by picking-up after our dogs.

The clean and healthy beaches that we enjoy today are the product of three decades of hard work, effort, and great expense by officials and the residents of the Boston Metro area. However, we cannot rest on our laurels. We must commit ourselves to doing whatever it takes in the years ahead to ensure that our region's greatest resource -- our beautiful coastline -- remains clean and useable both for ourselves and for generations to come.

So we wish to thank Save the Harbor/Save the Bay for issuing their annual report card on the state of our beaches -- and for giving us some good news, for a change, about our environment.

STANLEY CUP FEVER - BRUINS ARE HOT TO WIN

FROM THE STATE FIRE MARSHAL

Tips to start the Summer Off Safely

"Memorial Day is the unofficial start of summer," said State Fire Marshal Peter J. Ostroskey. "Many people are anticipating activities with family and friends, and getting their yards and grills ready for gatherings. Take a few minutes for safety and have a wonderful Memorial Day weekend."

Grilling Safety

Between 2014 and 2018, Massachusetts fire departments responded to 474 fires involving grills, hibachis, and barbecues. These fires caused 19 civilian injuries, seven firefighter injuries, and $3.8 million in property damage. Last year, a terrible house fire started in Duxbury when the grill was used right against the side of the house.

State Fire Marshal Ostroskey offered these safety tips for grilling safety:

- Always grill outdoors.
- Place grills 10-feet away from the house and deck railings. Make sure grills are not under eaves or overhanging branches.
- You should not use a gas or charcoal grill on any porch or balcony.
- Gas grills can be used on first floor decks or patios, only if there is an outdoor stairway to the ground, or it is at ground level.
- Grills cannot be used indoors or on fire escapes.
- Keep all matches, lighters and lighter fluid away from children.
- Keep children and pets three feet away from grills. Create a circle of safety. Children should never play near grills.

On June 6, 2018, the Millbury Fire Department responded to a supertime grill fire. The grill ignited nearby furniture on the porch. Damages were estimated at $20,000. The home had no fire sprinklers.

On July 11, 2018, shortly after midnight, the Ayer Fire Department responded to an outside grill fire. The homeowner had left the grill on at around 9 p.m. to clean it but forgot to shut it off later. The heat from the grill ignited the nearby wood railings on the deck and caused $26,000 in damage. The home had no fire sprinklers.

On Aug. 19, 2018, the Scituate Fire Department responded to a grill fire on the back deck of a single family home. Working smoke alarms alerted the residents. Damages were estimated at $15,000. The home had no fire sprinklers.

Charcoal Grills

Propane is the most common grilling fuel, but many people use charcoal grills. Here are some charcoal grill safety tips:

- Only use charcoal starter fluid. Do not use gasoline or kerosene to start a fire in a grill.
- Never add lighter fluid to burning briquettes or hot coals. Doing so may cause a flash fire and result in serious burn injuries.
- Charcoal briquettes give off carbon monoxide, a colorless, odorless gas that can be deadly. Always use charcoal grills in a well-ventilated area. Never use charcoal grills indoors.
- For proper disposal of grill ashes, allow the coals to burn out completely and then cool for 48 hours before disposal.
- If you must dispose of ashes before they are completely cooled, thoroughly soak them in water before putting them in a metal container.

Gasoline and Lawnmowers

State Fire Marshal Ostroskey said, "Is your teenager finally old enough to mow the lawn? Then be sure to discuss gasoline safety at the same time; talk about why it is important to let the engine cool before refueling." Gasoline vapors are highly flammable and refueling a hot motor can ignited them. Gasoline spilled onto clothing can give off vapors until completely dry and be ignited by any heat source. Gasoline vapors can travel a long distance to find an ignition source, which is why gasoline cannot be stored inside the house. In the past five years (2014-2018), 335 lawn mower fires caused one civilian death, four civilian injuries, two fire service injuries and an estimated dollar loss of $1.6 million.

- Store gasoline outside only in approved containers.
- Keep gasoline away from all heat sources, such as smoking materials, pilot lights, campfires, and grills.
- Fill a cooled lawn mower. Never refill while it is hot.
- Keep hands and feet away from a mower while it is running.

On April 24, 2017, at 9:05 a.m., the East Bridgewater Fire Department was dispatched to a fatal fire in a single-family home. The victim, an 86-year old man was working on his lawn tractor when it caught fire and spread to his clothes and the deck. The building did not have any sprinklers and damages were estimated to be $242,400.

On May 18, 2017, gasoline vapors ignited when a man attempted to refuel a commercial riding lawn mower in Framingham. The mower was damaged and he suffered second-degree burns to his left arm.

Gasoline and Outdoor Fires

"Never use gasoline to start a campfire or add it to any indoor or outdoor fire," said Ostroskey. "We have had so many injuries this year from people mishandling gasoline and other flammable liquids." In the past five years, Massachusetts hospitals have reported[1] treating 132 people with serious burn injuries from gasoline. On March 26, 2019, there were two terrible incidents in different communities when gasoline was added to outdoor fires causing terrible injuries.

In Ware, four young adults were injured at a birthday party when one of them added a flammable liquid to an outside burn barrel. Two were life-flighted to a Boston hospital; one was taken to a Worcester hospital, and one was treated at a local hospital.

In West Springfield, a man was seriously injured after pouring gasoline into a fire pit.

Smoking Safety

Smoking was the leading cause of fire deaths in Massachusetts last year, and there have been many fires this spring from improperly discarded smoking materials on porches and in backyards. These fires can smolder undetected for a long time and when they erupt into flames, travel fast. If they start on the exterior of the building, these fires can get a strong hold before the interior smoke alarms start to warn anyone of the danger. If you smoke, put it out, all the way, every time. Extinguish smoking materials in a can with sand or water, not in the mulch, leaves, grass, in a potted plant or other container that can catch fire. Don't snub them out on the porch railing or stairs.

Smoking materials caused a spring 2018 Chelsea fire that started on a back porch and consumed three triple-deckers leaving a dozen people homeless.

A late March 2019 fire displaced 20 from a Douglas apartment building started by a cigarette tossed into dry mulch.

An April 3, 2019 fire destroyed a Peabody manufactured home. It was started by smoking materials discarded into dried leaves.

An April 27, 2019 fire in Newton killed a 62-year old man and injured an elderly woman. The fire was started by smoking materials underneath the exterior deck.

Fireworks

Marshal Ostroskey reminds us that, "The possession and use of all fireworks by private citizens is illegal in Massachusetts." This includes sparklers, party poppers, snappers, firecrackers and cherry bombs, and more. "Leave fireworks to the professionals, and enjoy supervised displays," he said. "It is illegal to purchase fireworks in another state and transport them to Massachusetts," he added. Last summer, there were many fires, amputations and burn injuries from illegal fireworks in Massachusetts.

A 22-year old man was seriously injured when roman candles were set off inside an Amherst apartment.

A 22-year old was injured in Gloucester playing with sparklers.

A 10-year old boy was injured by illegal fireworks at a Marshfield beach on July 3, 2018. He was an innocent by-stander.

A man lost part of his hand when a firework he was holding exploded. The explosion occurred in a Mansfield MBTA parking lot.

The Tewksbury Fire Department provided emergency medical care to a man who lost a part of every finger on his right hand when a firework he was holding exploded.

A 25-year old Brockton man suffered injuries to his left hand when a "cherry bomb" exploded.

A 22-year old Kingston man suffered injuries to his hands, face and stomach from a firework.

In the past decade (2009-2018), there have been 800 major fires and explosions involving illegal fireworks in Massachusetts[2]. These incidents resulted in 12 civilian injuries, 39 fire service injuries and an estimated dollar loss of $2.5 million.

On June 25, 2018, people shooting fireworks in the street started a fire in a 6-unit Lynn apartment building. One ricocheted to the second floor porch and ignited several items. The fire spread to the rest of the second floor and to the third floor. Thirty-four firefighters were injured at this fire.

CHELSEA STUDENT EARNs ACADEMIC HONORS

Brittany Fitzgibbon, a teacher at Chelsea High School in Chelsea, MA has been awarded a James Madison Fellowship by the James Madison Memorial Fellowship Foundation of Alexandria, VA in its twenty-eighth annual fellowship competition. A total of 53 Fellowships were awarded in 2019. James Madison Fellowships support further study of American history by college graduates who aspire to become teachers of American history, American government, and social studies in the nation's secondary schools, as well as by experienced secondary school teachers of the same subjects.

Named in the honor of the fourth president of the United States and acknowledged "Father of the Constitution and Bill of Rights," the fellowship will fund up to $24,000 of Ms. Fitzgibbon's course of study toward a master's degree. That program must include a concentration of courses on the history and principles of the United States Constitution.

Ms. Fitzgibbon was selected for a James Madison Fellowship in competition with applicants from Massachusetts. Additional fellowships were awarded in each of the states. The fellowship-funded by income from a trust fund in the Treasury of the United States and from additional private gifts, corporate contributions, and foundation grants – requires its recipient to teach American history or social studies in a secondary school for at least one year for each year of fellowship support.

The award is intended to recognize promising and distinguished teachers, to strengthen their knowledge of the origins and development of American constitutional government, and thus to expose the nation's secondary school students to accurate knowledge of the nation's constitutional heritage.

Founded by an act of Congress in 1986, the James Madison Memorial Fellowship Foundation is an independent agency of the Executive Branch of the Federal Government. In addition to offering fellowships, the Foundation undertakes other activities relating to secondary school education about the Constitution's history. CHELSEA TRACKIES NAMED MVP

Juniors Ana Chang and Stephanie Simon showing off their hardware at the League Meet on May 18. Chang received Track MVP honors, winning the 100M dash and the 400M hurdles. Simon received Field MVP honors, winning the high jump and the long jump. Both competed in the State Meet last weekend.

Simon enjoys stellar day at Mass D-1 Meet Chelsea High track star Stephanie Simon turned in a tremendous performance at this past Saturday's Eastern Mass. Division 1 Meet. Stephanie placed second in both the long jump with a leap of 18'-3.5" and the triple jump with a final landing of 39'-1", and then earned a seventh place medal in the 200 dash in a clocking of 25.95 seconds. "Steph had a great day," said CHS head coach Cesar Hernandez. "She set a new Chelsea High school record in the triple jump, which previously was 38'-0.5", and a new personal best in the event by eight inches." Simon now will compete in both the long jump and triple jump in the upcoming all-state meet.

Teammate Ana Chang competed in the two events for which she qualified, the 100 dash and the 400 hurdles. Ana did well in both races, finishing 17th in the dash with a sprint of 13.11 and then narrowly missing a medal in the hurdles with a ninth place finish in a clocking of 70.75, which was just 0.47 off the eighth place time.

CHS baseball team concludes season Friday contests against Maimonides Academy and one with Lynn Tech. A bright spot for Chelsea has been the performance of Santiago Quintero, who is batting .324 for the season.

BRUINS Beat by Bob Morello

Bruins continue Cup drive

The 2019 Stanley Cup Final hit the ice running on Monday night at TD Garden when the Boston Bruins and the St. Louis Blues battled to a 4-2 decision in favor of the locals. After the long layoff following the sweep of the Carolina Hurricanes, the obvious question for most was: Are the Bruins going to have a tough time shaking off the inevitable 'rust,' and be able to get back rolling again? Well, that question got answered with Boston's hard fought comeback victory on Monday. Yes, the Bruins did show signs of rust in the first period and into the first minute of the second period of Game 1, with Blues goals from Brayden Schenn and Vladimir Tarasenko, 21 minutes into the game, for a quick 2-0 St. Louis lead. At that point the Bruins took over the pace of the game, scoring four unanswered goals and turning their rust into 'dust.' The Bs defense quickly stepped up to become the offense, with Connor Clifton scoring at 2:16 of the second period, to cut the Blues' lead in half at 2-1, followed by Charlie McAvoy who added an unassisted goal on the power play at 12:41 to even the score 2-2. The second period dominance was highlighted by Boston outshooting St. Louis 18 shots to 3, a margin that brought the final shots on net to 38-20 in favor of the Bruins. Boston's first line (David Pastrnak, Patrice Bergeron and Brad Marchand) had a tough time getting started, and once again, it was the constant pressure of the fourth line that stood out. Sean Kuraly was the impetus, with a two-point night that included a goal and an assist - his goal scored at 5:21 of the third period proved to be the game-winner, with Marchand confirming the win with an empty-netter at 18:11. As the Record went to press early Wednesday evening, Game 2 was being played at the Garden. Today (Thursday) the locals will either be the Bruins continuing their playoff victory streak, or the series will be tied at one game apiece. Whatever the outcome of Game 2, this Stanley Cup Final has all the makings of being a physical, tough series - whichever way the series goes, can be dictated by the Bruins, if they continue the style of play they exhibited in the final 39 minutes of the opening game it will be in their favor. Plusses, that offset the disappointment of the play of Boston's first line was the solid, impressive play of Marcus Johansson, and the solid work put in by the Bs' blue line corps. A definite highlight reel event was Bruins defenseman Torey Krug's solid hit on St. Louis' Robert Thomas. It all began with a skirmish in front of Tuukka Rask with St.

Louis' David Perron straddling Krug, and finally ripping off his helmet. Krug quickly got to his feet and took off up the ice, sans helmet, to get back in the play, unfortunately for Thomas he was in Krug's path and got wiped out with a resounding open ice hit. Thomas left the ice and did not return. No doubt a hit like that got the Boston juices flowing, and his teammates responded, and coach Bruce Cassidy approved with "I thought it was a good energy boost for our team." Statistically, coming into last night's (Wednesday) Game 2, the Bruins had only allowed 11 goals in eight games, their tight penalty kill rolling along at just over 96% having only allowed one power play goal in 26 attempts. The all-important power play unit continued to click with 10 goals in 29 opportunities at close to 35%. If the team continues to play what coach Cassidy calls "the right way," the Bruins will enjoy much success, and a good chance to bring the Cup back to Boston. In net, Rask came into Wednesday's Game 2 having made 238 stops while facing 249 shots, posting a .956 save percentage, to go along with a solid 1.38 goals-against-average. With two games played, it's on to St. Louis for Game 3 (Saturday, June 1) and Game 4 (Monday, June 3), both games at 8:00pm. Game 5 (if necessary) will be played in Boston on Thursday, June 6.

OBITUARIES

John 'Jack' Lindstrom

Award winning flower gardener whose biggest passion was painting

John C. "Jack" Lindstrom, a longtime resident of Chelsea, died on May 23.

John was born in Chelsea in March of 1930, the youngest of seven children.

He was an enthusiastic and award winning flower gardener and worked in his gardens from dawn to dusk in the summer. As a young man, he spent much of his time at the family lake side cottage in Newfield, Maine where he gardened and built many decorative stone walls as part of his landscaping design for the property.

However, Jack's biggest passion was painting. His father Eric, a portrait painter and professional photographer, taught Jack at a young age how to create art through oil paint, pastels, watercolor and charcoal drawings.

Jack will be remembered most standing in front of an easel wearing a paint stained apron with a brush in his hand. His art works are enjoyed in many homes.

He was a longtime member of the First Congregational Church in Chelsea where he served as a sexton for many years and worked as a supervisor for 44 years at Smithcraft/Lightolier, a manufacturer of industrial and residential lighting fixtures.

He was the beloved husband for over 66 years to the late Lois (McKennon) who passed away in 2015; devoted father of John C. Lindstrom, Jr. and his wife, Marilyn Lambert and Linda McCusker; loving grandfather of John, Frankie and Stephanie, proud great grandfather and uncle to many nieces and nephews. He was the dear brother of the late Barbara Reagan and her husband, Mike, Fred Lindstrom and his wife, Janet, Lorraine Landry and her husband, Francois, Gerry Houghton and her husband, Charlie, Robert Lindstrom and Bernie Wilkins and brother-in-law of the late Alfred and Robert McKennon.

The family wishes to thank the second floor staff of the Royal Meadow View Center in North Reading for the kind, cheerful and loving care of John. Also, grateful thanks to Mary and Kaitlyn from Hospice Compassus for all their competence, thoughtfulness, kindness and compassion which made John's last year so tranquil and pleasant.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, May 28 in the First Congregational Church, Chelsea. Interment was at Puritan Lawn Memorial Park, 175 Lake Street, Peabody.

Funeral Arrangements were under the direction of the Smith Funeral Home, 125 Washington Ave., Chelsea.

Daniel Mikolajewski

GE retiree and decorated veteran

Daniel Mikolajewski of Chelsea died on May 11.

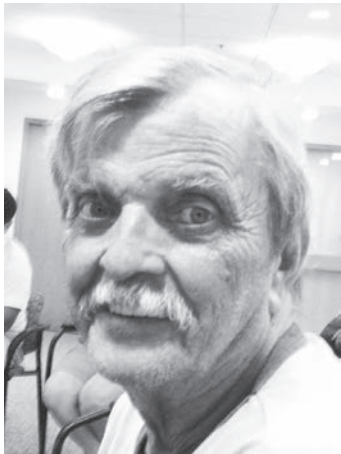

A lifelong Chelsea resident, he was born in December of 1946, the youngest of four children. Raised on Beacon Street, he attended St. Stanislaus School, Everett Vocational for printing and worked odd jobs during and after high school until he enlisted in the United States Army in September of 1966. He was stationed in Vietnam during the war and it was during that three year time of service that he fought for the peace of others and for the safety of his comrades. Because of his courage, dedication and bravery, Danny was awarded The National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, three Bronze Stars for Meritorious Achievement, The Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal and The Combat Infantryman Badge.

He was honorably discharged in 1969 and off to start a new chapter in his life. It was at this time he met his beloved friend of 50 years and wife of 48 years, Betty.

Danny worked for Lawson Machinery and Tool for some time until he secured a job as a helicopter engine tester for General Electric in Lynn, where he worked for 37 years until his retirement.

Danny was a former member of the Polish Falcons of Chelsea. He attended Patriot games as a season ticket holder before they started to win and an avid bowler on multiple teams at Townline in Malden. In his remaining years, he spent his time as a member and avid cribbage player at the Polish Political Club of Chelsea.

In 1976 Danny became a father, first came the birth of his daughter, Kristin Beth and six years later, in 1982, his son, Daniel Jr. was born. Both of which he was very proud. He became a father once again with the addition of his son-in-law Joe and daughter-in-law Siobhan to the family. But the most recent of happy times in his life for the past eight years were his three beautiful grandchildren: Maddie, Evie and Fiona-Maggie. Never a time went by where he didn't crack a smile or belt a laugh because they brought him pure joy in that moment of time.

He was the beloved husband of Elizabeth "Betty" (Gubski) Mikolajewski, devoted father of Kristin Beth (Mikolajewski) Breen and her husband, Joseph of Quincy and Daniel Mikolajewski, Jr. and his wife, Siobhan of Norwood; brother of Geraldine Douglas and her husband, Arthur of Lynnfield and the late Edward Miles and his surviving wife, Joyce Miles of Wilmington and Wallace Miles; brother-in law of Sr. Barbara Ann Gubski, SND of Chelsea and cherished grandfather of Madeline Adele Breen, Evelyn Claire Breen and Fiona-Maggie Mikolajewski.

Danny's lengthy illness with cancer called him home on May 11. He passed with the one true constant in his life of 50 years by his side, his best friend and beloved wife.

Family and friends are kindly invited to attend a Celebration of Life on Sunday, June 2 from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the Smith Funeral Home, 125 Washington Avenue, Chelsea. Following the Memorial Service, a collation to continue the celebration of his life will be announced.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests that memorial contributions be made to the Leonard Florence Center for the Living, 165 Captains Row, Chelsea, MA 02150; the American Cancer Society, 3 Speen St., Suite 250, Framingham, MA 01701 or to Exceptional Citizens Week at Camp Fatima atwww.ecweek.org/donate.
